The Bulletin

Norwich, Saturday, Nov. 9, 1918.

THE WEATHER.

Conditions.
 The barometer is still high in Atlantic coast districts and has thus far apparently prevented the west disturbance from advancing further east. Pressure is low over Lake Superior region and a vigorous disturbance is approaching the coast of Washington and Oregon.

The rainfall of the last 24 hours has been confined to the lake region, the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and the west gulf states. Rain has also set in in Washington and Oregon.

The temperature in Atlantic coast districts has risen; elsewhere the changes have been small and unimportant.

Rain is probable Saturday in the lake region and the east gulf states and on Sunday in northern New England. Elsewhere in the Washington forecast district fair weather will continue. The temperature will change but little in the east and it will be slightly colder in the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys.

The winds along the north and middle Atlantic will be gentle southwest to south and fair weather.

Forecast.
 Southern New England: Fair and somewhat warmer Saturday; Sunday unsettled and warmer, probably showers.

Observations in Norwich.
 The following records, reported from The Bulletin's observations, show the changes in temperature and the barometric changes Friday:

EVENTS OF FIFTY YEARS AGO

In Norwich fifty years ago this week was devoted to celebrations by the republicans in the city in honor of the election of General U. S. Grant to the presidential chair. The returns were very slow in coming in, but up to Saturday night there were over 35 votes in the electoral college over the number necessary for the election of Grant and Colfax.

Extracts from The Bulletin's files of '68 follow:

Nov. 3, 1868—Republican and democratic papers played their last card on this date as it was the election day and interest ran high in Norwich. Many bets were placed on the results, the best being $100 to $50 and $50 on Grant to win. Connecticut was sold in favor of the republicans at $100 to $50.

The first snow storm of the season took place on Monday but was light and soon turned to rain. The streets are muddy and the country roads are the same.

At a meeting of the common council the fire limits of the city were extended to the limits of the city limits hereafter must be of brick.

Nov. 4, 1868—The republicans have made a sweeping victory. Grant and Colfax have been elected and the Union is saved. Norwich gives the splendid majority of 402. Connecticut went republican by a large majority both for presidential electors and for other state officers.

Norwich celebrated the republican victory by bonfires in several parts of the city and the people who waited until after midnight for the returns cheered and sang until a late hour this morning. Returns were announced at The Bulletin and the large crowds cheered themselves hoarse.

The whole country with the exception of the south seemed to have gone for Grant by large majorities. In New Orleans there was some rioting as the negroes were prevented from voting.

Nov. 5, 1868—The republican victory was complete. Grant and Colfax were elected and the Union is saved. Norwich gives the splendid majority of 402. Connecticut went republican by a large majority both for presidential electors and for other state officers.

TEACHERS' CONVENTION FRIDAY AT POQUETANUCK SCHOOL
 Forty teachers representing the town, North Stonington, Voluntown, Franklin and Canterbury attended the teachers' institute at Poquetanuck Friday. The following teachers gave able demonstrations of the various subjects which indicated mastery in the teaching profession. First Grade reading, Miss Bennett, Canterbury; Initiative Composition, Miss Arlene Thompson, Voluntown; Long Division, Miss Lucy Lester, North Stonington; Citizenship, Exposition History, Miss Grace Chapman, Ledyard; Phonetic Drill, Miss Sophia Hollowell, Preston; Poem Study, Miss Mildred Zabrackie, Preston; Problem Reading, Mrs. Bennett, Canterbury; Physical Training, Miss Catherine Muller, Canterbury. At the forenoon recess directed play and folk dancing were well demonstrated by the teachers of the Poquetanuck school.

At the opening of the afternoon programme, former Mayor Allyn L. Brown, of Norwich, spoke in relation to the Victory War Pledges and urged the teachers to co-operate in making this section go over the top in the great drive coming on. Mr. Brown was followed by Charles D. Geer, the chairman of the town committee for Ledyard, and Appleton Main, chairman of the committee for Preston. Harry Houston, supervisor of penmanship in the New Haven schools, and author of the system of penmanship in use in all state supervised schools, spoke with unusual interest upon his subject and gave the teachers present some definite plans for work in their respective schools.

Following Mr. Houston's lecture there was a discussion of the forenoon programme led by O. E. Lowell of Norwich, agent of the state board of education in this district. During this discussion many valuable points were brought out by teachers and visiting supervisors.

Visiting at the afternoon session included Allyn L. Brown, of Norwich; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Geer, Ledyard; Appleton Main, Preston, William Bliss, state supervisor of Canterbury; Judge Lucius Brown, Norwich; J. T. Garrison, state inspector of schools, Mrs. John Taylor, Preston, Harry Houston, New Haven and Mrs. O. E. Lowell, Norwich, a member of the school committee from the town of Canterbury.

The ladies of the parish furnished a dinner at the parish house with traditional hospitality, making it possible for those present to enjoy an unusually good dinner.

Gold production in Australia in the first seven months this year amounted to 760,550 ounces, compared with 853,074 in the year 1917.

PECKHAM TAKES LEAD AS SECOND SERIES OPENS
 Peckham started off in the first place in the West Side Pinchelle club in the second series of the season as the result of the play on Friday night. He scored 7.50 points with Pettis close after him with 7.25. They two established a nice lead in the first two positions as Haskell, the third man is 300 points behind Pettis. The scores: Peckham 7.50; Pettis 7.25; Haskell 7.25; Pendleton 7.00; Hahn 6.85; J. Pordan 6.60; Bailey 6.10; A. Jordan 6.10; Parker 6.20; Larson 6.15; Lewis 6.10; Underwood 5.65.
